What impact might AI have on legal education and training

1 Oral exams

A return to in-person exams. Universities may decide to implement in-person oral exams to ensure students' genuine understanding.
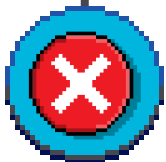

2 Generate & check

Universities may choose to have students critique and mark an AI response, so that they know its limitations for future legal work.

3 Question drafting

Generative AI may be useful in drafting general backstory for problem questions for examinations - those hypotheticals that laws schools love to inflict.

4 Bans or undertaking?

Given its ubiquity, gen AI is not going anywhere. Bans are a possibility, but unenforceable with current technology. Undertakings are another method to ensure compliance.
