

UPHOLDING YOUR WHS OBLIGATIONS

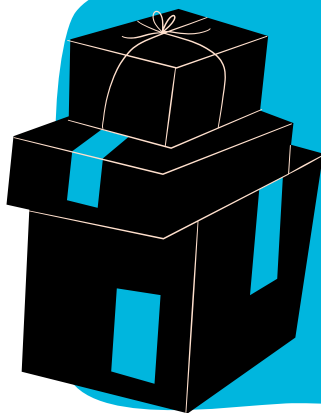

KEEP ON TOP OF WHS LAW

Make sure you are aware of changes to the legislation that applies to you.

KEEP ON TOP OF RISK IN YOUR BUSINESS

Ensure you conduct frequent workplace inspections to assess risks in the workplace. Attempt to visit the workplace, in person, as frequently as possible. Thoroughly read risk assessment reports.

MAKE SURE WHS RESOURCES ARE AVAILABLE

Have a safety management plan that is easily accessible for employees. Also, make sure it is simple and quick to follow.

CONSULT WIDELY

Consult with your employees about WHS issues. This encourages a participatory approach to workplace safety. It also ensures all safety measures taken in the business are well-received by those they may impact.

SEEK EXPERT ADVICE

Often, safety questions are highly technical. Seek the advice of experts and read expert reports to ensure any WHS decision is the best for the workplace.
